“Serpentine Mysteries”: The Fluid Origins of Movement

with Amber Gray – Mother of the Ceremonial Space

The Oroboros- the snake eating it's own tail symbolises that which exists before any beginning; before stories and patterns...it represents our spine, the messenger between the external and the internal, heaven and earth. It is kundalini. It is the yin of the yang, the yang of the yin. Embracing our divine opposite. Feminine and Masculine.

Continuum connects us with our natural state of being through movement, breath & voice.

Amber Gray is a Continuum Movement teacher, award-winning dance movement therapist, and sevito in the Fran Ginee tradition of Vodou. She works with people affected by human rights violations, natural disasters, and complex humanitarian emergencies. Her work emphasises the very basic human right we are all entitled to: to inhabit our bodies in ways that we choose.
